The Museum is housed in a Baroque palace that belonged to the Califfi counts in the 17th and 18th centuries. Founded in 1954 by a group of artists from Rovinj, the Museum has two public functions – it serves as a town gallery and as a place to permanently exhibit its rich collection of art. During its 50 year long existence, many rich and valuable art collections have been created – from contemporary art, old masters, ethnology, a library and most recently a collection of archaeological finds.
